

Brightly – Raise Kids Who Love to Read. <https://www.readbrightly.com>

This site has something for everyone, from the tiniest baby to the adult reader. Here you can find numerous age-appropriate lists, printables, videos, and much more.

Merriam-Webster’s Word of the Day. <https://www.merriam-webster.com/word-of-the-day>

A great way for adults and teens to build vocabulary, this site also offers quizzes, word games, and vocabulary tests.

The New York Public Library. <https://www.nypl.org>

The library is offering free printables such as “write your own Goodnight Moon” – go to the site & click “SHOP” in the upper right corner to find them. Also, from the library’s home page, click on “BOOK/MUSIC/MOVIES” – the “Staff Picks Book Finder” and “Best Books of 2019” are great for book recommendations. Clicking “SEE MORE” at the bottom of this page will connect you to “Realistic Titles for Teens”, “Adventure Titles for Kids”, and other thematic lists.

Random House/Teachers & Librarians. <https://www.rteacherslibrarians.com>

Another good site for finding book lists, activities, and other educational resources. “The Latest Buzz” tab takes categories broken down by grade levels.

NPR Article: “The Key to Raising Brilliant Kids? Play A Game”

<https://www.npr.org/2019/10/10/769052767/the-key-to-raising-brilliant-kids-play-a-game>

Excellent article with links to other articles about learning.

Children’s Authors. So many authors doing great things online!

https://www.nytimes.com/2020/03/20/books/writers-entertain-kids-virus.html?campaign_id=69&emc=edit_bk_20200325&instance_id=17042&nl=books®i_id=33426919&segment_id=22803&te=1&user_id=f1365864bec0f32cea1ce940790e44b7

Houghton Mifflin Harcourt – Education and Learning Resources. <https://www.hmhco.com>

K-12 resources, including lesson plans, printables, and videos.